

Attention Young Professionals!

Why you should consider a career in the home energy rating industry as a certified RESNET Home Energy Rating System (HERS) Rater:

Dynamic Ongoing Growth in Demand – Currently nearly a quarter of all new homes built in the U.S. are HERS rated

HERS Raters are recognized by state and local energy code and utility programs across the nation

Becoming a Certified HERS Rater provides you with tangible skills

Qualify as a Building Science Professional

Ability to conduct high tech diagnostic tests on homes to determine energy performance

Ability to model energy performance of home designs using sophisticated HERS software programs

Being a Rater Means

An Exciting Career Opportunity

Helping Create More Efficient Homes

Helping Reduce Families' Energy Costs

Reducing Pollution Emissions

Visit resnet.us/professional to learn more about starting a career as a certified RESNET HERS Rater.

RESNET is the independent, national nonprofit organization that homeowners trust to improve home energy efficiency and realize substantial savings on their utility bills. RESNET's industry-leading standards are recognized by the U.S. Department of Energy and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, among others.

To learn more about RESNET and the HERS Index, visit www.resnet.us